

Asian Digital Modeling Contest 2017

ADMC 2017

We invite you to submit an original design of 3D model that can be fabricated by a 3D printer. The selected designs for the final contest will be presented at the exhibition venue. We will invite the authors of the selected models to the final contest, in order to explain their design works. The exhibition and final contest of ADCM will be held during AFGS 2017 (Asian Forum on Graphic Science) in The University of Tokyo.

For more information, please check the ADCM web site.

Important Dates

Submission Due Feb.28, 2017 12:00 GMT
Notification of Acceptance Apr.30, 2017
Exhibition / Final Contest Aug.7-10, 2017

Exhibition Venue

The University of Tokyo, Komaba I Campus

Web

<http://admc2017.graphicscience.jp/>

Awarded works of (past) Japan Digital Modeling Contests
<http://www.graphicscience.jp/contest/list.html>

Organization

Organized by Japan Society for Graphic Science  JSGS
Japan Society for Graphic Science

Technical cooperation with ALTECH Co., Ltd.
Autodesk, Inc.
Lattice Technology Co.,Ltd.
Stratasys Japan Co.,Ltd.

This conference is supported by JSPS KAKENHI Grant Number JP16HP0706.

(Design by Boxes) Naomi ANDO, Akihiro SHIBATA

(shelling julia) Masanori NAKAYAMA

3D printed model

(Full Moon and Star) Kokichi SUGIHARA

An ornithopter, a flying machine by use of its flappingwings, was designed and 3D modeled starting from an idea in CODEX ATLANTICO drawn by Leonardo da Vinci. Masahiro MAKIZONO, Kazuki TAKENOUCHI

3D printed model

(TUGITEBAKO) Sunao KUMAGAI